of food or liquids are best. The diet can be ... frequently are taken well, but should be given in small amounts because larger quantities of carbonated beverages often cause an upset stomach. Weak green tea with milk and sugar often tastes good and makes the throat feel better.

SEDATION: Children will often be listless and lacking in pep until about the fifth to sixth post-operative day. They often are restless at night and sleep fitfully for several days. After this time they usually return to normal gradually. Throat soreness will be relieved by cool compresses or an ice collar to the neck, sucking ice chips, chewing Aspergum, or by aspirin, the dosage (amount) written in the space at the bottom of this page. Between the second and sixth post-operative days, the child may complain of an earache. This is not an ear infection but is a referred pain from the throat, which is swollen following the removal of the tonsils. It is best treated by a hot water bottle to the ear, warm olive oil or sweet oil in the ear, and by use of aspirin.
